Camacho Blasts Nixon on Child Development Veto

Democratic Congressional Candidate Julian Camacho has blasted President Nixon's veto of the Comprehensive Child Development Act.

"In stating that this bill

YAFA Calls For Support

Anytime an organization decides to expand its services into the area of Economic Development, it speaks well for the awareness and maturity of that organization.

Completely devoid of the senseless trappings of rhetoric and dogmatism, YAFA silently works toward the progressive development of its community. YAFA feels that, at this point, nothing is more important than the economic development of its community - for even slavery, itself is nothing more than an economic condition.

The chains in which Black people are now shackled are chains forged from economic exclusion. This is a problem YAFA is striving intensely to eradicate. However, due to lack of funds, YAFA finds itself, somewhat hampered in this new area of involvement. Therefore, we feel it necessary to ask for whatever support is available from the communities and other organizations on the Monterey Peninsula.

YAFA is currently in need of approximately $45,000 dollars in order to establish a small factory here in Seaside. A portion of this amount can be obtained from financial institutions, the Economic Development Administration and the Small Businessmen Administration, but YAFA is required to come up with some capital of its own, which is virtually impossible at the present time.

Anyone familiar with YAFA knows of its tremendously successful Criminal Rehabilitation program. YAFA's capacity to function in that particular area was and still is one of critical importance. However, the solution to the problem of crime in a community can only be achieved by removing the root of the problem. We at YAFA feel that the degree to which crime becomes prevalent in a community is proportionate to the degree of economic underdevelopment of a community.

Where there is low economic opportunity there will be a sometimes enormously high crime rate. We feel that the successful stemming of the tide of criminality and the eradication of the counterproductive elements within would be a 'journey into darkness,' President Nixon was merely playing around with words once again," Camacho stated. "I truly believe that the man is against any proposal that is presented by the oppositions."

The bill, which was co-authored by Senator Walter Mondale (D, Minn) and Rep. John Brademas (D, Ind) would have provided for funding of local child daycare centers. Said Camacho, "there is an unbelievable need for child development centers - ones that can provide more than mere babysitting."

"Presently, there are centers for the children of welfare parents and pre-school facilities for the rich, but practically nothing for the children of working mothers, single-parent families and the like," Camacho added. "Working parents have to spend a sizeable percentage of their income on babysitters; what this bill would have done is provide for child development facilities."

President Nixon in vetoing the bill, stated that he felt that it would lead to a breakdown of the family. He also went on record as favoring centers that were funded under his revenue sharing plan.

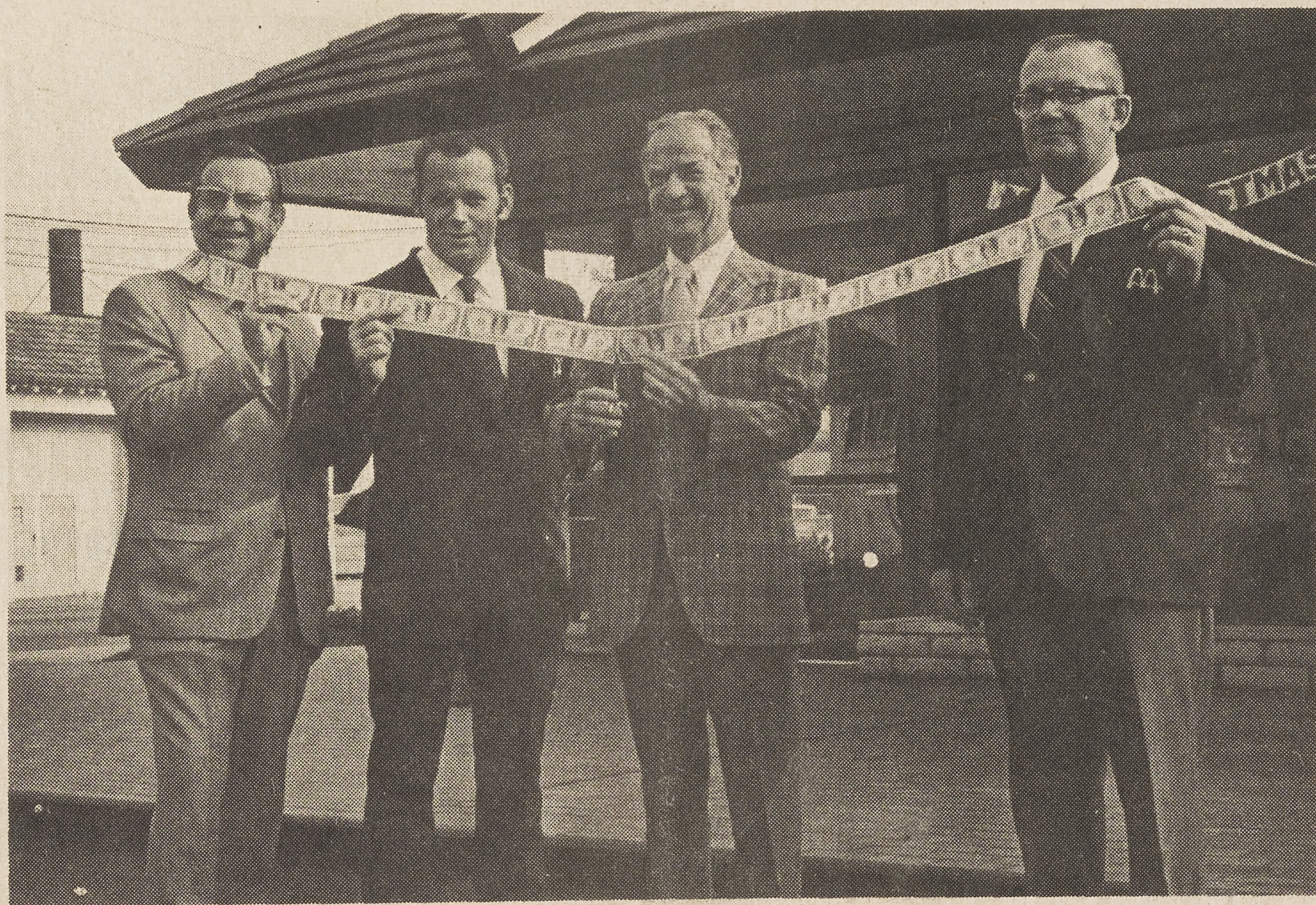

Addressing himself to these two points, Camacho stated that "the family has broken down already in many instances. The creation of child development centers would attempt to provide what the families can no longer provide in these instances. As far as paying for these centers via revenue sharing, I think that what we are seeing is the President's extreme reluctance to go along with any program that he cannot take credit for."

Camacho also attacked Republican Congressman Burt Talcott for voting against the bill in Congress. Said Camacho, "this is just another example of Mr. Talcott's refusal to listen to the people. He has it in his head that he knows what is best for the people."

Camacho concluded his remarks by stating that "we must provide the children of working mothers and fathers with more than babysitting. We must develop these pre-school centers where the child can receive both warmth and attention, understanding and creative supervision, for they are the community's greatest asset."

our Community lie in the Community's ability to develop itself economically.

YAFA is asking each and every member of our Community to help themselves and their community by supporting its economic program.

Infant Care Center Opens

An infant care center was introduced to the Monterey Peninsula recently with a special program of gospel music provided by the choir of local Seaside churches. The center is located at St. Matthias Church, Kinball and Noche Buena Streets.

The center will provide full day care with planned program for both indoor and outdoor activities, Language Arts, Physical activities, music, art and science are taught. Children are free to participate in those activities which interest them. The center hopes to provide a secure atmosphere with understanding teachers who are sensitive to the needs of each individual child.

The center will be open five days a week from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. The primary objective of the center is to provide a safe secure place where working parents can leave their children for a reasonable fee, while they continue their work. A very acute situation exists where women sometimes must cease their employment because the cost of child care takes so much of the income. This works a severe hardship on people of low income.

The Infant Care Center is under the direction of Mrs. Wilhelmina Vaughn who has for the past several years been a pre-school teacher in the Monterey Peninsula School system.

The center operates from St. Matthias Episcopal Church under the umbrella of All Saints Day School in Carmel. The center, however, is not funded by the parent organization and must seek outside funding to sustain its operation. Centers of this kind are much needed, this is a first of its kind on the Peninsula. Further information may be obtained from The Rev. Chester Talton, St. Matthias Episcopal Church 394-1744 or Mrs. W.H. Vaughn, 394-1744 and 394-6964.

LULAC Official Wants System of Educational Centers For Chicanos

A Californian newly elected to a top national League of Latin - American Citizens (LULAC) post is calling for creation of a nationwide system of educational centers for poor Chicano youth in big cities.

The new Investigation and Proposal Supervisor for LULAC's Education Committee is David E. Florence, a San Francisco-based official with the California Department of Human Resources Development (HRD), where he serves as assistant director of Educational Liaison.

"Our goal is to establish centers in 10 strategic U.S. cities--including San Francisco and Los Angeles--as a way of bridging the gap between institutions of higher learning and potential students," Florence said.

The centers, he said, would serve as "brokers," and each would have a small staff and limited office facilities. There would be no classrooms or other teaching facilities, he said.

Each center would serve at both the graduate and undergraduate levels. They would be an "advocate" to help the graduate student win admission to a particular program in a particular school. They would bolster undergraduate students with enough information and assistance to overcome self-defeating attitudinal problems.

The headquarters center (in San Francisco) would also function as an "information bank." It would compile, edit and disseminate information about special admission programs, supportive services,

Group Will Study Jet Sales Center

A citizens Airport Study Group has been formed to examine possible effects of a jet sales and maintenance center operated by Cessna Aircraft Company at the Monterey Airport.

The airport board of directors voted December 5 to approve a 30-year lease with Cessna, despite objections from a standing-room only audience.

"We are not sure that Monterey Peninsula residents want to encourage a 24-hour facility for jet engine service such as this center would provide," as Lowell Figen, acting chairman of the new group. "This means ground run-up of jet engines, take-offs and landings at any hour of the day or night, sales demonstration flights and pilot training. We question whether these activities, all within and over a populated area, are what the Monterey Peninsula needs," the Study Group spokesman said. "Do most residents really want to see development of an industrial-type airport?"

The new citizens' group includes Peninsula residents of such areas as Fishermen's Flats, Del Monte Fairways, Del Monte Beach, Pebble Beach, Del Rey Oaks, Pacific Grove and Carmel. Most of the members are active in property-owners and conservation groups.

The jet center is one of three planned for the country by Cessna. Plans for a similar facility at Santa Barbara were withdrawn after they met widespread resistance there.

School Lunch Prices Will Be Increased 'No Show' Students

Starting in January, lunch and milk prices will be increased in Monterey Peninsula Unified School District cafeterias.

The school board voted the increases because the district faces a projected cafeteria deficit of about $43,000 by June 30. The board's policy is to operate the cafeteria program on a self-sustaining basis.

Type A lunch prices in elementary schools will increase from 40 cents to 45 cents. In junior high schools the price will rise from 45 to 50 cents. High school students pay 55 cents, as opposed to the current 45 cents price. Adult lunches will be sold in the schools for 75 cents, up from 60 cents. Type A lunches are balanced meals meeting state nutrition requirements.

Milk prices will be increased from 6 cents to 10 cents in elementary and junior high schools. High school students will pay 12 cents instead of the present 6 cents. The dime charged in elementary and junior high schools will purchase one-fourth pint cartons, while one-third quart cartons are sold in high schools.

Business Manager Mel Isenberger said proportionate increases will be made in a la carte food sales in the schools. Isenberger told the board the price increases are necessary to help the cafeteria program break even by the end of the year. Otherwise, the district would realize a $40,000 monthly deficit in the program, he said. As of the end of this month, the deficit is expected to amount to nearly $22,000.

He noted that the deficit in this year's program is a result of increasing costs for food and labor. In addition, while it costs the district about 49 cents to prepare a meal for students on the federally-subsidized free lunch program, the government only reimburses the district at the rate of 40 cents a meal.

He said the district has made every attempt to make its cafeteria operation more efficient, but noted that labor and food costs have simply risen beyond the point where lunch prices will cover costs.

The price increases are designed to pull the program out of its financial dilemma this year, and the district is arranging for a complete study of cafeterias with an eye toward a centralized kitchen program in the future, Isenberger said by using one or more centralized kitchens and then transporting prepared food to the schools the number of lunches prepared per labor hour could be significantly increased.

The Monterey Peninsula Unified School District will tighten up a board policy that allows high school students to meet graduation requirements by merely enrolling in --but not necessarily attending--certain classes.

Concerns about a new breed of "no show" students were carried to the board by representatives of a teacher task force that has been studying the problem.

Under the current policy, which falls in line with state requirements, a student only has to enroll in required English, social science and physical education classes. The student can then choose not to attend, earning enough credits in other courses to graduate.

Trustees who were on the board that passed the original policy stated it was not that board's intent that students should merely enroll in required courses. They should be made to attend the classes, the trustees said. The board directed that its policy should be altered to reflect that intent.

The teacher representatives also urged changes in the way the district currently selects students to honor rolls, while other non-academic courses, such as work experience, can be counted. Superintendent Allan J. Petersdorf told the board the entire question of honor rolls and methods used to select students so them will be studied.

In other action, the board reviewed a course of instruction in drug abuse designed to be used in the districts' fifth grade classrooms next year. The fifth grade program was recommended last year by a citizens' committee. The board was enthusiastic about the drug abuse education program, which will be correlated with programs in grades six, seven and eight, but will not vote final approval until January.

A study trip to Mexico during Easter vacation of the Monterey High School Spanish Club was also approved. Students will finance the trip.

ber of lunches prepared per labor hour could be significantly increased.

Seaside Ripples

A. E. 'Andy' Barragan, Publisher

We had a most enjoyable evening last Saturday. My wife Jeannie and I attended the Maria Clara Festival as the guests of the lovely Connie Turquesa and Marcial Sabado, the capable and affable president of the Fil-American Community Club.

The Maria Clara Festival is held annually and a queen is selected to commemorate the memory of the beautiful heroine of the two novels of the great Filipino, Dr. Jose Rizal. In these two novels, "The Social Cancer" and "The Reign of Greed," Rizal graphically portrayed the state of the Philippines as a result of Spanish Mal-Administration. They are usually referred to as the Gospel of the Filipino Race.

We had the pleasure of attending the Festival, seated next to Betty Mann, our charming columnist, who will give a report in her next week's column on the ceremonies and festivities.

My main attention was drawn to a remark made by one of the Filipino speakers. He said among many other things about the Maria Clara tradition that it was important to show the Filipino children the importance of their proud heritage and to portray to them the struggle of the Filipino people for their freedom. This remark particularly struck me because Jeannie and I had been admiring the beautiful boys and girls so nicely dressed and so well behaved throughout the long ceremony and since this is

Grooving Around the Peninsula

with BETTY MANN

Hi there, fellow Peninsulans:

Here are some poems which I thought expressed the true sentiment of Christmas. I hope you enjoy them as much as I do. Merry Christmas and a happy new year to you all!

A CHRISTMAS MEDLEY

By Leif Lewisohn

Christmas is made of gingerbread,
Of pine trees green and coney.
Christmas is a child in bed
Dreaming of a pony.
Christmas is a teddy bear,
Tinsel rope and angel's hair,
Paper chains and candy canes
Hung above electric trains.

Christmas is made of mistletoe.
Christmas is a dolly.
Christmas is a bright red bow
Upon a wreath of holly.
Christmas is poinsettia plants,
Visiting uncles and gift-bearing aunts -- Gathered round the festive fire
To join the merry Christmas choir.

Christmas is made of cookie dough.
Christmas is a candle.
Christmas is the pure white snow
That children love to handle.
Christmas is a plate of dates,
Popcorn balls and roller skates,
Cups of nog with long-time friends,
Homemade jellies Grandma sends.

Christmas is made of sugar plums.
Christmas is surprises.
Christmas is the joy that comes
In boxes of all sizes.
Christmas is a baseball bat,
A book of verse, a cowboy hat,
Candied cherries, caramels,
"Silent Night" and "Jingle Bells."

Christmas is made of kissing kin.
Christmas is Der Bingle.
Christmas is believing in Whatever you call Kriss Kringle.
Christmas is a small gold ring,
"Hark the Herald Angels Sing," Mailmen bringing yards of cards,
Twinkling light on boulevards.

Christmas is made of God's own gift.
Christmas is a manger.
Christmas is the hand that's swift
To welcome in a stranger.
Christmas is the Wise Men three,
A treasured family recipe,
Dancer, Prancer, Tiny Tim,
Seraphim and cherubim.

Christmas is wishing with all your might
That Santa's not a fable.
Christmas is the lovely light
That shone upon a stable.
Christmas is The Blessed Child
Upon whose head the angels smiled
And placed a crown of burning gold --
The greatest story ever told.

THE SECOND COMING

William Butler Yeats

Turning and turning in the widening gyre
The falcon cannot hear the falconer;
Things fall apart; the centre cannot hold;
Mere anarchy is loosed upon the world,
The blood-dimmed tide is loosed, and everywhere
The ceremony of innocence is drowned;
The best lack all conviction, while the worst
Are full of passionate intensity.

Surely some revelation is at hand;
Surely the Second Coming is at hand,
The Second Coming! Hardly are those words out
When a vast image out of Spiritus Mundi Troubles my sight; somewhere in sands of the desert
A shape with lion body and the head of a man
A gaze blank and pitiless as the sun,
Is moving its slow thighs, while all about it
Reel shadows of the indignant desert birds.
The darkness drops again; but now I know
That twenty centuries of stony sleep
Were vexed to nightmare by a rocking cradle,
And what rough beast, its hour come round at last,
Slouches toward Bethlehem to be born?

PEACE! BETTY.

Church Services

"And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down, and worshipped him: and when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto him gifts; gold, and frankincense, and myrrh."

This passage from the account in Matthew's Gospel about the birth of Christ Jesus will be read at Christian Science church services Sunday.

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy these words will also be read: "When a new spiritual idea is borne to earth, the prophetic Scripture

Pets Are No Longer Taxable

Of interest to horsemen throughout Monterey County and California is legislation introduced by Assemblyman Bob Wood, which exempts horses and other pets from their personal property tax. The bill, which was passed by the Legislature and signed into law by Governor Reagan, will take effect for the fiscal year 1972-73.

Earlier this year, the County Assessors from throughout California met and recommended that pleasure horses be exempted from the personal property tax. Assemblyman Wood's bill would make California law conform to this new policy.

Wood said, "as the law presently stands, every pet owner in the county should be paying property taxes on their animal." Because it would be an impossibility for county assessors throughout the State to track down and assess each animal without exorbitant costs, only certain ones have been subject to this tax. "The horse," Wood's added, "is the animal that has been taxed most frequently. Evidently, because of its size it is easier to locate and assess. Their value make it worthwhile for the assessors to try and tax them."

Under the new law, all pets would be exempted from the property tax, including all horses used exclusively for a pet. "Of course," the Monterey County Assessor said, "animals used for breeding or for other income or commercial purposes would not be exempt from taxes."

Another provision of the in-lieu tax on cattle and sheep. Now, all cattle or sheep raised as part of a club project are subject to taxes like animals held for commercial purposes.

The bill exempts these animals from this tax and is designed to encourage young people to learn more about animals.

BARGAIN

According to Clifford Hardin, Secretary of Agriculture, food in the U.S. is a bargain. He reports that consumers spend only 16-1/2 percent of each dollar for food and the food share continues to decline each year.

Frozen Lakes Are Hazard To Winter Sports

Winter visitors to the high country are warned to stay off what may appear to be frozen lakes. The warning comes from Pacific Gas and Electric Company.

Unstable ice conditions exist at most of PG&E's 50 reservoirs and lakes above the 4,000 foot elevation mark. "Ice commonly forms in thin layers on these reservoirs and offer an appearance of safety. At times it is necessary to raise and lower PG&E reservoirs for purposes of conservation, domestic water supply and other operating reasons. What may appear to be solid ice might be only a layer of ice over an air pocket above the water level. Any weight, including the weight of a snow buggy, can cause the ice to break, presenting a real hazard to life," warns Hugh Daniels, manager, PG&E's hydroelectric generating facilities.

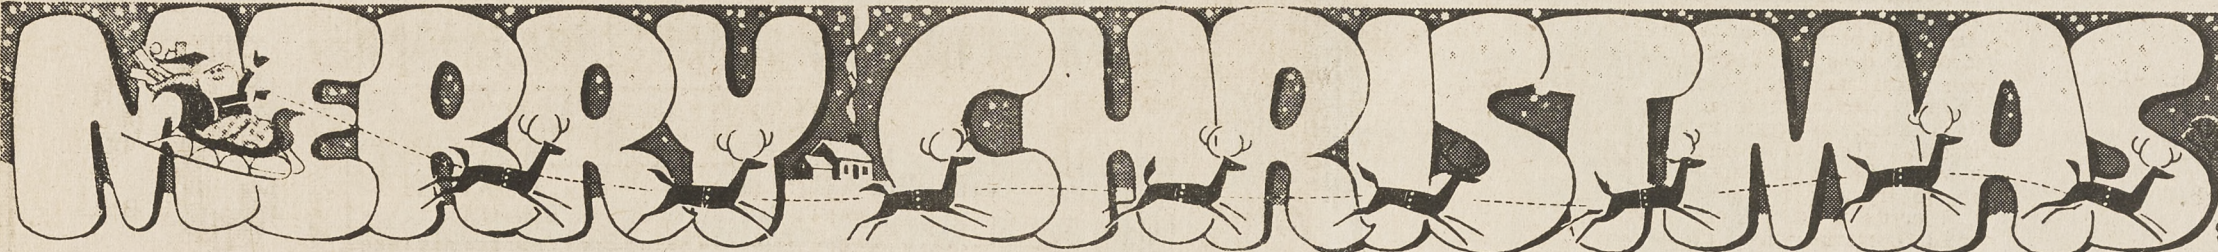

PG&E doesn't recommend, or encourage the use of operating lakes or reservoirs for winter sports or recreation. Using frozen lakes for winter sports is dangerous. Many times a thin layer of ice is covered by snow, making the lakes appear as meadows. PG&E is posting warning signs, but often the signs are ignored, Daniels said.

"Don't go into mountain areas during the winter months unless you know the area and are sure of your location. Cross country skiers, snow buggy enthusiasts and fishermen should pay special attention to the warning," he said.

the Christmas Season, my thoughts have turned more and more to children as we near that great children's Holiday - Christmas.

Of course, being proud grandparents for the first time, we are concerned as to what to get our favorite grandson for his Christmas. Yul, or Yullie as we all call him, is now two years old and can get some idea of what the whole present-giving is all about. Last year as a one-year-old it didn't mean much to him and so what. I think the grandparents and parents get a bigger kick out of the presents than do the children. We'll be seeing my grandson later this afternoon and maybe I can elicit from him some idea of what he wants for Christmas.

All children are so beautiful and I find myself somehow paying more attention to them in the last few years. Maybe it's because I am now a grandfather or maybe it's just natural for us to pay more attention to youth as we grow older. Whatever, I enjoy it and get a great deal of pleasure speaking with little children and with young people. As I have said many times in this column, they are the salvation of our world as we know it today. More and more as you watch the movements of our present day leaders throughout the world you can see them struggling trying to solve problems with old outworn methods which have proven time and again to be wrong. We're almost into the 21st Century and we continue to try to solve our great problems with 19th Century methods, through war and the use of force instead of through Love and Peace. The Prince of Peace that we so ostentatiously celebrate on his birthday must shudder at the carnage that besets all parts of the world today. He must ask himself how on earth can these people pray to me on Sundays and celebrate my birth on Christmas with pious sermons and gift-giving and go out the next day and commit the acts of violence that they do by their negligence of the poor and suffering or by their actual killing. Yes, I think that I shall continue to associate with children and young people. Children through their innocence have not yet learned to hate and the young of today have set their hearts and minds on a much greater mission of Love and Peace. God has blessed them and may God Bless all of you on this Christmas Day.

As I See It

By Mel Vercoe

A five dollar cashier's check is in the mail for first place winner of the quiz published in this column on Dec. 9. Winner was Melven Shaw, 1660 M Broadway, Seaside. As to what would be the first thing he would do as President, Mr. Shaw said, "I would declare an end to hostilities and bring our men home from Vietnam." About allowing 18 year olds to drink, he said, "I think it would be a calamity to legalize drinking for 18 year olds. One thing - it would cause slaughter on our highways such as never been known." About legalizing marijuana, "absolutely not - but the laws are not strong enough, but I do think it keeps some from using it."

Should tax money be used for campaign expenses? "Yes." Should a time limit be put on campaigning? "No, except incumbents whose time should be spent serving his constituents. A time limit of one month should be sufficient. His record should be his campaign efforts." How to get more people interested in voting in elections? "Convince them that it is the only way a democracy can survive."

A guaranteed income with cost of living increases for our elderly? "Yes. $2400 minimum for single, $3200 for married couples." Should the U.S. send more arms to Israel, India, Pakistan? "Yes to Israel, no to India, yes to Pakistan because they are being invaded."

Is there a future for NATO? For the U.N.? Should we try to save the U.N.? "Yes, yes and yes." Why did Nixon reverse his attitude toward China? "For political reasons." Was it the right thing to do? "No, because they are warmongers. Also Mao is the biggest dope peddler anywhere in the world." Should a murderer be excused from conviction by virtue of being under the influence of drugs or liquor? "No." From the death penalty (same conditions)? "Yes, because he does not have control of his mind at the time. If insane he should be given mental care. Yes, the death penalty should be abolished."

Would Mr. Agnew make a good President? "No - one thing he wants to destroy the freedom of the press." About change of venue - "it should be permitted in order to get a fair trial." About seizure of tuna boats off S. America - "all foreign aid and trade with them should be cut off until they come to their senses." Was Gov. Reagan right in vetoing venereal disease education? "Yes - up to college ages. Then only in separate classes." How should increased taxes be applied? "Sales tax. This is the only fair way. If all sales were taxed, we would have plenty of money for schools, highways or any other need." Mr. Shaw's answers to my questions were not judged on the basis of whether or not he agreed with my own opinions, but rather on the basis that he has kept himself informed on the various issues facing us.

THE PHONE BOOTH

All of us at the Pacific Telephone Company, on the Monterey Peninsula, would like to wish you and your family the very best this holiday season. It's been our privilege to serve you during 1971. Our New Year's resolution this year is to continue improving your telephone service during 1972 and each succeeding year.

Again, our best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a prosperous, rewarding New Year.

During the Christmas and New Year's weekends we expect a record number of people to send their greetings by long distance phone calls. If you're one of them, remember, we'll make every effort to complete your calls quickly, but some calls to some points may be delayed.

Here are some tips to help speed your calls through on these weekends:

- ... Know the Area Code and the number before you call. (Most Area Codes are found in the front pages of your phone book.)
- ... Dial direct. It's faster and cheaper to dial station-to-station calls without Operator assistance.
- ... Your call has the best chance of getting through during the lighter calling periods—usually the afternoon or late at night.
- ... If you get a busy signal, please hang up and try again in a few minutes.

Holiday Tips For Drivers, Pedestrians

Holiday parties, preoccupation with Christmas shopping, longer hours and the ever-present possibility of fog or rain mark the period through New Year's Day as Danger Days, Attorney General Evelle J. Younger said recently.

To keep accidents to a minimum, the State's chief law officer offered this advice to motorists:

- * If you plan to attend holiday parties-- and if you plan to drink at these parties-- make plans to have someone else drive you home.
- * Keep auto windows clean and the view unobstructed.
- * Maintain and clear head and tail lights so they can give light when needed.
- * Be patient in heavy traffic.
- * Leave for your destination early enough to allow for delays.
- * Don't follow the car ahead too closely.
- * Avoid changing lanes except when necessary.
- * Watch the cars ahead and behind you.
- * Always be on the alert for pedestrians and cars entering the roadway from side streets and parking areas.

Drunk driving arrests, Younger added, traditionally soar in December and because of the "implied consent" law license suspensions could increase.

The law says that a motorist must submit to a chemical test for intoxication when requested to do so by a police officer who has reasonable cause to believe the driver was driving while drunk.

If the suspect refuses, even though he's later acquitted of drunken driving, his license could still be suspended, said Attorney General Younger.

Police throughout the state will be on the alert during "Danger Days" and if a suspect refuses to take a scientific test for intoxication, the proper authorities will be notified and the license will be suspended, said Younger.

Once the license is suspended and if the person continues to drive, he is liable to find himself in more trouble. He will be subject to prosecution and the first offense could land him in jail for as much as six months and result in a fine of up to $500. Later convictions, within seven years of the first one, are stiffer--one year in jail and a fine as high as $1000.

Younger also has some advice for pedestrians:

- * Cross only at corners and keep to the right in the crosswalk.

- * Look both ways before crossing and be sure the way is clear.
- * Never cross or enter the roadway from between parked cars.
- * Walk on the left side of the roadway facing traffic, where there are no side walks.
- * If you must be out at night, carry or wear something white to help the driver see you.

VOLAR NEWS

By Sgt. Jose Garcia

I would like to start off my column this week by extending congratulations to Frank T. Wrightman III of Marina. He is our latest VOLAR enlistee. Frank chose the Accounting Field as his enlistment option. After basic training at Fort Ord, he will go to Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, to attend the Accounting Specialist Course.

Volunteers for this field are taught military accounting principles and procedures, accounting transactions, stock fund accounting and are introduced to Automatic Data Processing Equipment and ADP codes. The field offers a great opportunity to gain valuable experience to pursue a career as a bookkeeper, accountant or an auditor.

Frank attended Marina schools and graduated from Seoul American High School at Seoul, Korea in June of this year. He qualified for the option by passing the necessary physical and written examinations. Best of luck, Frank, and it was a good choice.

During the Holiday Season a lot of our former enlistees will be home on Christmas leave and I would like to extend an invitation to all of them to stop by our office and let us know how their Army career is coming along.

Among our latest visitors to the office is Bienvenido Fonbuena, Jr., of Seaside. He is on his way to Vietnam after the Holidays and his last duty station was Fort Hood, Texas as a cook. He has been with VOLAR for 18 months and during his tour of duty with the Second Armored Division at Fort Hood, he participated in a filming for VOLAR to be used on television in the near future. By the way, he has also been promoted to Specialist Fourth Class.

To all our faithful readers and family members of all servicemen that are not able to be home this Holiday Season, I wish you a Joyous Christmas and Peaceful 1972.

That's it for now: Easy on the spirits.

Bob Wood Reports

We've often heard it said that death, taxes and change are inevitable and everyone of us will be subjected to all three during our stay here on good, old, mother earth.

Today I would like to discuss the last one, change and its relation to the opinions of many pertaining to our prison system. Today we are hearing more and more people talking about what we should do about our prisons. Because of the violence that has been taking place in our own Soledad prison, at San Quentin and at the Attica prison in New York, law enforcement officers, judges and prison employees have been speaking out more on what should be done. Many people are complaining about our "country club" prisons feeling that the violence is a result of our coddling and catering to those who are incarcerated there for major crimes. Others are saying that the prisons are too strict and that we should be more permissive.

A report, compiled by an independent penologist, is now being studied by the Board of Corrections in Sacramento for possible action. Some of the recommendations included in the report are startling indeed.

The report recommends the closure of California's two maximum security prisons, San Quentin and Folsom. It also recommends that future penal institutions be small and located within the communities they serve. The report goes on to state that non-minimum prison terms be granted and that the proposed new parole board have authority to release a prisoner whenever he is considered not a danger to society.

The section of the report which bothers many is that which recommends the elimination of the present Adult Authority. This Board determines the length of a violator's term and decided when he is to be paroled. Another section places the burden of proof on law enforcement authorities as to why a convict should not be released, rather than the present system requiring the convict to show why he should be released.

One of the main questions raised is whether California can afford to pay more to make lawbreakers more comfortable. Under the nation's government of law, we all recognize that a person who breaks the law must be punished. It has been ever thus. We have always gone on the concept that when a person commits a crime against society and is convicted and sentenced after due process of law, he surrenders his rights and privileges of the law-abiding and free man. This does not, of course, mean that he should be cruelly or unduly persecuted. He should be provided ample opportunity to rehabilitate himself inside prison. Nevertheless, while he is incarcerated, he must abide by rules and regulations governing prisoners.

Much progress has been made in recent years in improving the lot of our prison inmates. Chain gangs and rock pits are gone from the scene. Much improvement is probably still needed, but many are starting to wonder if the pendulum may have swung too far and too quickly on the side of permissiveness.

Thanks Dad, and Merry Christmas.

We lived in an old gray house on a country road just outside a small midwestern town.

And every year on the Saturday before Christmas, my father would pile my sister, my two brothers and me into the cab of his pickup truck and drive us into town. We all had money saved and ready to spend on Christmas gifts.

Dad would shop with us for a while, helping us pick out gifts for mother and advancing our allowances when our eyes got bigger than our budgets.

Then usually just before noon, he'd say he had some special shopping to do and that he'd better get to the bank before it closed.

When Christmas morning came, we'd gather round the tree and open our presents. And when we were finished unwrapping the trains, trucks, dolls and clothes; when Mom had thanked us each twice for the gifts we'd given her; and when we'd emptied our socks down to the last orange; my Dad would point to four small envelopes nestled in the tree. There was one for each of us. And every year for as far back as I can remember, each contained the results of his hurried trips to the bank on the Saturday before Christmas. A U. S. Savings Bond.

It's Christmas time at my house now. A house that's far away from that small midwestern town. A house that I could buy because I cashed in some old U. S. Savings Bonds I had to help with the down-payment. A house where two little kids are going to find envelopes in the Christmas Tree this year. Envelopes that contain U. S. Savings Bonds.

ABOUT GARBAGE IN MARINA:

ARE YOU SATISFIED with your present garbage removal service? — or the price you pay?

Please Hear This:

I AM EXPANDING my garbage removal operation to offer BETTER SERVICE AT LOWER COST TO all Marina residents. At present I am serving over 350 customers in Marina — after January 1st there will be over 500. And the more I serve the better service I can render.

Who?

MY NAME IS ROY HART. I have a 3 year contract to remove all the garbage from Fort Ord and the Defense Language Institute. I am bonded and insured as required by Uncle Sam.

What?

I HAVE MODERN EQUIPMENT, 3 years experience on the Peninsula and a great crew to do the job.
You'll see them: White trucks, blue uniforms — smiles.

Why?

WHY MY SERVICE? Because I charge only $2.00 per month for weekly pickup of 4 cans at the curb or 2 cans inside your fence (if you occasionally have an extra box or an old chair or something — we'll take it with a smile). We bill you $6.00 per quarter in advance.

How?

SIMPLY CALL 375-0785. WE WILL START YOU OFF AT THE QUARTER
BEGINNING JANUARY 1, 1972.

You Will Like The Difference

PS: If you are already a customer of mine, please just smile,

AMA Is New Agnew Target

Vice President Spiro Agnew chided the American Medical Association's Political Action Committee for engaging in "scare rhetoric"—something he said he expects from Democratic presidential candidates but not from the AMA.
In an address in New Orleans, Agnew referred to an AMA ad in a recent issue of Life magazine which said that pollution-related diseases have cost $38 billion and carried the heading:

Grunsky Bill Has Passed

The California State Automobile Association has commended both the legislature and the governor for the passage of a bill designed to keep second offense drunk drivers off the highway.

"We have supported Senator Grunsky's bill from its inception," said Neal Garrison, CSAA executive vice president, "and we are very much pleased at its enactment into law. About 50 percent of the fatal accidents on California roads each year involve drinking drivers. This new law is a positive step to get drunk drivers off the road and keep them off until their drinking problem has been corrected."

The bill, SB 1312, introduced by State Senator Donald L. Grunsky (R-Central Costal Counties), is designed to provide stricter enforcement of already existing drunk driving laws.

In the past, the courts often set aside previous convictions of drunk driving and allowed the "repeaters" to continue as a first offender. With prior convictions nullified, the driver not only received a lesser penalty for the actual second or subsequent offense, but he often returned to the highway before showing he could drive safely.

The new law, however, changes this situation. In the future when a person is arrested on a second offense drunk driving charge, any earlier conviction can only be challenged through specific procedures for the accused, his counsel and the courts.
Most importantly, it will establish a written record that will prevent both judicial error and indiscriminate setting aside of convictions.

During a recent 12-month study period, 74,000 drivers were convicted of driving while intoxicated, yet 83 percent of these drivers were allowed to return to the highways.

"The enactment of this law should aid immeasurably in the curbing of the more than 6,000 drunk driving convictions a month here in California," Garrison concluded.

Aids Many

The B. F. Goodrich Company has announced payment of the third installment on its pledge of $15,000 to Wilberforce University's capital fund drive. Payment of the pledged contribution will be completed in 1972.

Since 1952, B. F. Goodrich has contributed more than $12 million to assist educational institutions, hospitals, farm organizations, youth groups and welfare agencies.
This year the company will grant colleges and universities $257,523 under its aid to education program.

Willie Mays Walks Most

Willie Mays is still one of the most feared hitters in professional baseball. He led the league in walks for the first time during the 1971 season with 112.

Considering Willie McCovey was not in the Giants lineup for a considerable amount of games, National League pitchers probably decided it would be better to walk Mays and face someone else.

Former Alameda Willie Stargell was the leading strikeout victim, although he led all of professional baseball with 48 homeruns.

Sets Record

Kareem Jabbar set a club record for the Milwaukee Bucks last week scoring 55 points against Boston. It was his best night in professional basketball. He made 23 field goals in 36 attempts, and 9 out of 11 free throws.

Council Aim Coffee

Nearly half — 125 — of the nation's 265 Black federal, state and municipal judges have formed a Judicial Council designed to push for more Black judges.

Describing the job of the council, Judge Edward F.
Bell of Detroit, who is also president of the Black National Bar Association said:
"Our job is to return to the idea that the courts belong to all of the people, not just the rich people, but the poor people as well, not to just white people, but to Black as well."

At a news conference in Atlanta to announce the council's formation, the first target was outlined by Judge George W. Crockett, also of Detroit:

"You are going to get more Black judges down here in the South," he said, "even if we Black judges up in the North have to put our robes aside and come down here and campaign for them. We are going to get them."

Wives of new students living in La Mesa Village and Monterey are invited for 7:30 p.m.
Those in other areas will attend at 8 p.m.

Newcomers who may not have been contacted by a member of the OSWC Welcome Aboard Committee or any wife wishing to attend the coffee are asked to call the Committee Chairman, Mrs. Robert Woods, 384-6923, for information and reservations.

Fletcher Quits UN For UNCF

Arthur A. Fletcher, who three months ago left his post as Assistant Secretary of Labor to become an alternate United States delegate to the United Nations, has accepted still another position.

He quit the United Nations to take over as director of the United Negro College Fund on January 1.

Fletcher, a Republican, said at a news conference in New York that polls in his home state of Washington show that he could be elected to Congress from either the Fourth or the Seventh district of that state in 1972.

Those polls also show that he might be able to win a Republican Party primary election for governor of Washington but probably could not win the general election. Blacks make up less than 2 percent of the state's electorate.

Fletcher temporarily shelved his plans to run for Congress when he was offered the directorship of the college fund, which raises money for 40 predominantly Black colleges and universities, all but one of them in the South.

He said he accepted the job because "right now the Black community needs those brothers and sisters who can cut it in the corporate world to come back home."

Fletcher will succeed Vernon E. Jordan, Jr., who will move from the UNCF on January 1 to head up the National Urban League, whose former director Whitney Young, Jr., died last year in a swimming accident.

Fletcher defended the Nixon administration's efforts toward helping Blacks but said the administration had failed to make itself "relevant to the Black community."

In turn, President Nixon released an exchange of letters between Fletcher and himself including one which commended Fletcher and agreed to his request that he remain chairman of the Domestic Council Committee to Eliminate Economic Discrimination.

Local Pros Make News

Local athletes -- present and past -- are continuing to make news around the country with Baltimore star Frank Robinson being traded to the Los Angeles Dodgers, Warren Wells being mentioned as for possible partner, Nate Thurmond being declared unable to play against Portland, former California star Phil Chenier scoring consistently in double figures for Baltimore and Wendell Hayes of Kansas off to his best-ever season.

Robinson lives in Los Angeles during the winter and had said he hoped he would be able to spend his last years playing on the West Coast. He has often been referred to as a likely candidate to become baseball's first Black manager. It would not be too surprising if he replaces Walter Alston who has the longest managing record of any major league pilot.

Wells has been imprisoned for the last three months. There was speculation that the Reverend Charles Moore and the Community Education Research Foundation (CERF) were expecting word about Warren's release last Monday.

Thurmond, at this writing, had been mending with a cut right hand. He missed several games last week and felt he could not make it for a game with Portland.

Chenier, who left the UC Bears with one year of eligibility remaining, was permitted to become a pro as a hardship case. He shouldn't have to worry about bread and butter if he continues his present style of play with the Baltimore Bullets. Incidentally, the Bears won their first game of the season against Houston 82-81.

Before last week's game Wendell Hayes had rushed for 385 yards -- his best performance since going to the Kansas City Chiefs from the Denver Broncos.

6.6 Million Chevrolets Recalled By GM For New Engine Mount Restraints

General Motors now has the dubious distinction of initiating the largest automotive recall in history, having advised the owners of more than 6.6 million Chevrolets to have dealers install a restraint to counteract possible engine mount failure.

The recall affects owners of approximately 6,682,000 1965 through 1969 Camaros and certain light trucks. GM said the installation of the restraint will be at company expense and that car owners would be notified and dealers supplied "as expeditiously as possible."

The largest previous auto recall was made October 25, 1969, when GM which notified 4.9 million owners of certain cars and trucks to report to dealers for possible defective carburetor parts and inspection of body areas near the tailpipe for possible exhaust emissions.

The company said this time that only vehicles with V8 engines are involved. The recall order does not include Chevelles, Corvettes or any six-cylinder models.

PREVIOUS WARNING

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) last October advised owners of all 1965-69 Chevrolets, Novas, Chevelles and Camaros to have their front engine mounts inspected.

The NHTSA said reports of engine mount failures had been received from about 500 owners. Many of them involved loss of control of the vehicle.

About two weeks ago, consumer advocate Ralph Nader accused the Federal agency of "callous disregard for the safety of the owners and passengers."

State Payroll Deductions Go Into Effect January 1

California wage-earners should be aware that starting on January 1, their state income taxes will be deducted from their paychecks just as federal income taxes already are.

Signed into law by Governor Ronald Reagan was the historic withholding tax bill that will raise $351 million in revenue next year. The governor put his signature on the measure two minutes after stepping off a jet at the Los Angeles International Airport. He had been at a banquet in New York.

Reagan said he wanted to waste no time because of the potential trouble California businesses will have in arranging for the payroll deduction system due to begin just two weeks from now.

In signing the bill, the governor said he would ask for another bill to require two-thirds legislative majority for further income tax boosts. Then, he predicted, the tax would never again be raised "unless there is a crying need for it."

BALANCE BUDGET

The measure will balance a state budget deficit by putting California's 36-year-old state income tax on a pay-as-you-earn basis and by taxing business and the wealthy more heavily.

In addition to the $351 million, the measure contains a $150 million one-time windfall that will be used for state construction projects for the next three years.

The Democrat-controlled legislature passed the tax measure last week after an 11-month-long battle in Sacramento over how to solve the state's financial crisis.

Reagan explained his previous stand against withholding, saying, "When I said taxes should hurt, I never said that from a desire to hurt people. I said the people should always be conscious of the pain of taxation so they will be more on guard to keep their elected representatives from carelessly increasing taxes."

The governor also said he had realized that the people, used to a credit economy, would prefer to have their income taxes deducted from their pay checks rather than having to pay a lump sum in April -- often dipping into savings accounts or borrowing to do it.

REAGAN'S SHARE

Governor Reagan's own $409,67 monthly paycheck will have deducted from it $263,97 a month under the new system, if he claims exemptions for himself, his wife Nancy and their children Patti and Skipper. Reagan's annual salary as governor is $49,100.

Of the 38 states with an income tax, California becomes the 37th to have mandatory withholding as the means of collecting it. The last holdout is North Dakota, which has a voluntary form of deduction.

SENIOR CITIZENS

In another aspect of the bill, State Senator Nicholas C. Petris hailed one of its provisions as a "long overdue, but finally achieved, truly meaningful property tax cut for the senior citizens."

Petris said that under provisions of the bill, "most retired citizens living in a house valued up to $30,000 will have their tax bills cut by 50 percent."

"In its handling of the reports of defective engine mounts. At the same time, he accused General Motors of corporate irresponsibility in not moving to correct the defect.

A spokesman for the traffic safety agency said "we're delighted" about the recall. But he added that the agency is disturbed by GM's statement "which makes it seem like this is not a statutory safety-defect notification action."

A close reading by the Traffic Safety Administration and its legal staff of the GM letter shows clearly the GM statement is misleading."

NADER REACTS

In a statement from Washington, Nader called the GM action "an example of the importance of citizen pressure and widespread publicity about safety hazards."

"Without the tenacity of the media and concerned owners who complained loudly about their plight, this problem might have remained uncorrected. For two years GM has arrogantly claimed that there was no safety defect in the engine mounts of any Chevrolet."

"It is obvious that public pressure in this case was successful because the owners of these Chevrolets are the bread-and-butter customers of General Motors."

GM had told the safety administration that it "does not agree that any potential problem incident to the use of these engine mounts constitutes a safety-related defect."

But the company added: "It is apparent that as a result of publicity which has been

"In addition to lifting the ceiling of income eligibility from $3,350 to $10,000 per year and the value of eligible property from $20,000 to $30,000, we reduced the age of eligibility to 62 years," Petris said. "This means a large number of our retired people who have not been eligible before will now be getting a very substantial tax cut."

Senator Petris added a word of caution: "It is still necessary for all persons eligible to file an application for a refund with the Franchise Tax Board in the local community to get the property tax each year. Notices will be mailed to all property owners with their tax bill."

Meanwhile, a senior official of the Reagan Administration said detailed instructions for employers have been prepared and were due to be received by them this week.

Sigurd I. Hansen, director of the State Department of Human Resources Development (HRD), said that most employers affected by the new withholding law are already registered with HRD under laws relating to unemployment insurance and disability compensation.

"For this reason, HRD has been given the responsibility for collecting the taxes and enforcing the new regulations," Hansen said. "By consolidating personal income tax returns with our present UI-D contribution returns, we hope to simplify reporting and paying procedures for most employers."

Hansen said that although most employers will be receiving instructions, there will be a number of employers, mainly nonprofit, religious and other organizations, who may not receive letters but who will be responsible for withholding taxes.

RESPONSIBILITY

"An employer is any person or organization for whom an individual performs any service as an employee," Hansen said. "For the purposes of personal income tax withholding, this includes all nonprofit, governmental, religious and other organizations which may be exempt from other tax returns."

"Employers who have not received a letter or other instruction by this week should contact the nearest employment tax field office of HRD immediately," Hansen said. These offices may be reached by telephone, under the directory listing of "HRD, Department of," under "California, State of."

EXEMPTIONS

Hansen said that a person in business for himself is exempt from withholding under the law but not his employees. Other exemptions include private domestic employees, ministers of churches and members of the armed forces on active duty.

The law also exempts most agricultural workers, Hansen said. Hansen said that HRD has worked jointly with the State Franchise Tax Board to produce a special Income Tax Withholding Guide, which is being mailed to all responsible employers.

The guide provides employers with a summary of their responsibilities for withholding and remitting of income taxes for computing tax withholding. The tables automatically allow for the standard deduction, credits for personal and dependents' exemptions based on progressive tax rates.

The company said it expects to have restraints available at Chevrolet dealers by the latter part of February that when installed would limit the lifting of the engine should the front mount fail.

The company did not say how much the repair would cost, but federal officials said the restraint cable would cost less than $1 per car and the total cost, including labor, would be less than $5 per car.

GM declined to say how much the recall would cost, but automotive writers for Detroit newspapers estimated the cost at $25 million and $37 million, respectively.

LATE FEBRUARY

Many of the inexpensive standards of the toy industry remain tops in the area of child appeal. In addition, many of these same toys are an effective means of developing motor skills in both handicapped and non-handicapped training handicapped children to reach, grasp and release objects and in developing hand opening and closing abilities. This is a preliminary step in teaching the child to feed and dress himself.

Court Rules Against New Welfare Act

A class action suit representing three welfare recipients -- one in Richmond, one in San Francisco and one in Wilmington in Southern California -- has been won in the State Supreme Court.

At least 140,000 of California's working poor will continue receiving aid under the court's unanimous decision. The court invalidated a key section of California's recently enacted Welfare Reform Act because the section violated federal law.

In Sacramento, State Welfare Director Robert Carlson said the decision would be appealed "to the appropriate federal court."

FEDERAL LAW

The opinion, written by Associate Justice Stanley Mosk, points out that California is one of several states which accept federal grants for welfare programs.
